What is your level of experience with ADKAR?

“The secret to successful change lies beyond the visible and busy activities that surround change. Successful change, at its core, is rooted in something much simpler: how to facilitate change with one person.”

Jeff Hiatt

Prosci founder

Creator of ADKAR

Context: Individual Change

What is Change?

An organizational move to a future state

Ultimately requires individuals to move from their current to their future

The True Unit of Change is the Individual

A woman with long blonde hair, wearing a floral patterned top, is sitting on a couch and smiling. A man with a beard, wearing a blue and white plaid shirt, is sitting on a chair next to her, also smiling. They are both looking at each other. In front of them is a round table with two laptops, a water bottle, and a coffee cup. The background is a plain wall. The entire image has a blue tint.

ADKAR in the Wild

SAVE OUR PLANET

Dear Guest,
Every day millions of gallons of water are used to wash towels that have only been used once.

YOU MAKE THE CHOICE:
A towel on the rack means
"I will use again."

A towel on the floor means:
"Please replace."

Thank you for helping us conserve the Earth's vital resources.

Nature of the change

Why the change is needed

Personal decision

Knowing how to make the change

Gratitude to make it stick

What is the Barrier Point for the Individual in Your Example?

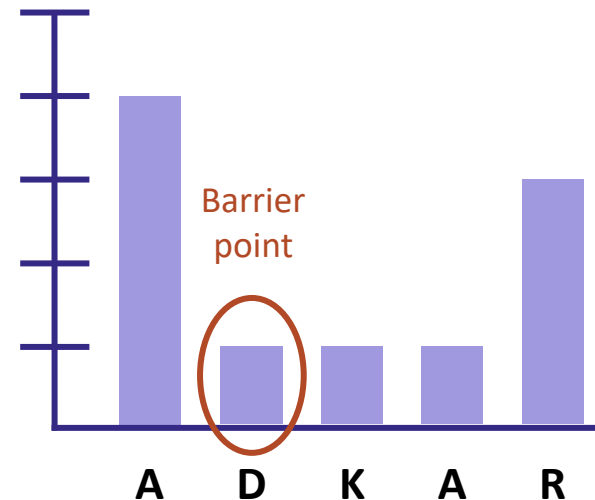

Defined as the first ADKAR element that is insufficient and impedes change progress.

The barrier point tells us where to focus our attention in order to make progress.

It can be very frustrating for people, and ineffective for the initiative, if our responses and adjustments are focused on the wrong ADKAR element.

ADKAR Barrier Point

A score of “3” or feeling “neutral” is a barrier.

Prosci ADKAR Model

ADKAR element:	Definition:	What you hear:	Triggers for building:
A Awareness	Of the need for change	"I understand why..."	Why? Why now? What if we don't?

R Reinforcement	To sustain the change	"I will continue to..."	Mechanisms Measurements Sustainment

ADKAR in the workplace

“The results and outcomes of workplace changes are intrinsically and inextricably tied to individual employees doing their jobs differently.”

Jeff Hiatt and Tim Creasey

Change Management: The People Side of Change

The ADKAR Model Defines Successful Change at Scale

Change with one person...

Or five people...

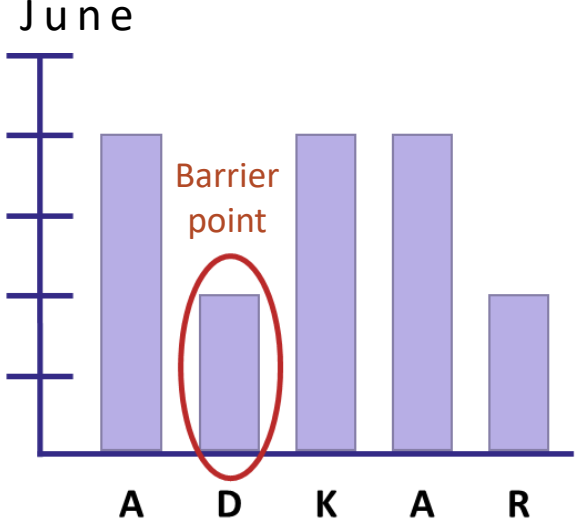

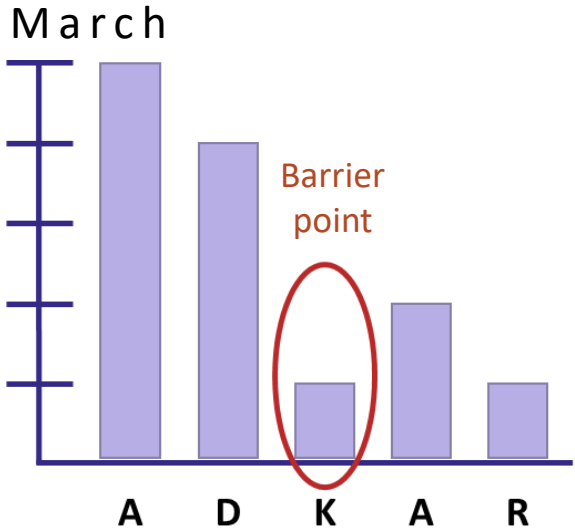

Or 20 people...

Or 1,000 people...

The ADKAR Model Is Sequential but Not Always Linear

1

After early campaigns, employees score high on Awareness and Desire.

Employees attend training and learn more about what the change means to them.

After gaining Knowledge, employees have slipped back to a barrier point at Desire.

People Change at Different Paces

Awareness Desire Knowledge Ability Reinforcement

Consequences of Missing ADKAR Elements

Without Awareness and Desire you will see:

- Employees asking the same questions over and over
- Lower productivity and higher turnover
- Hoarding of resources and information
- Delays in implementation

Without Knowledge and Ability you will see:

- Lower utilization or incorrect usage of new systems
- Employees worry whether they can be successful in the future
- Greater impact on customers and partners
- Sustained reduction in productivity

Without Reinforcement you will see:

- Employees revert back to old ways of doing work
- Ultimate utilization is less than anticipated
- The organization creates a history of poorly managed change

ADKAR for Project Milestones

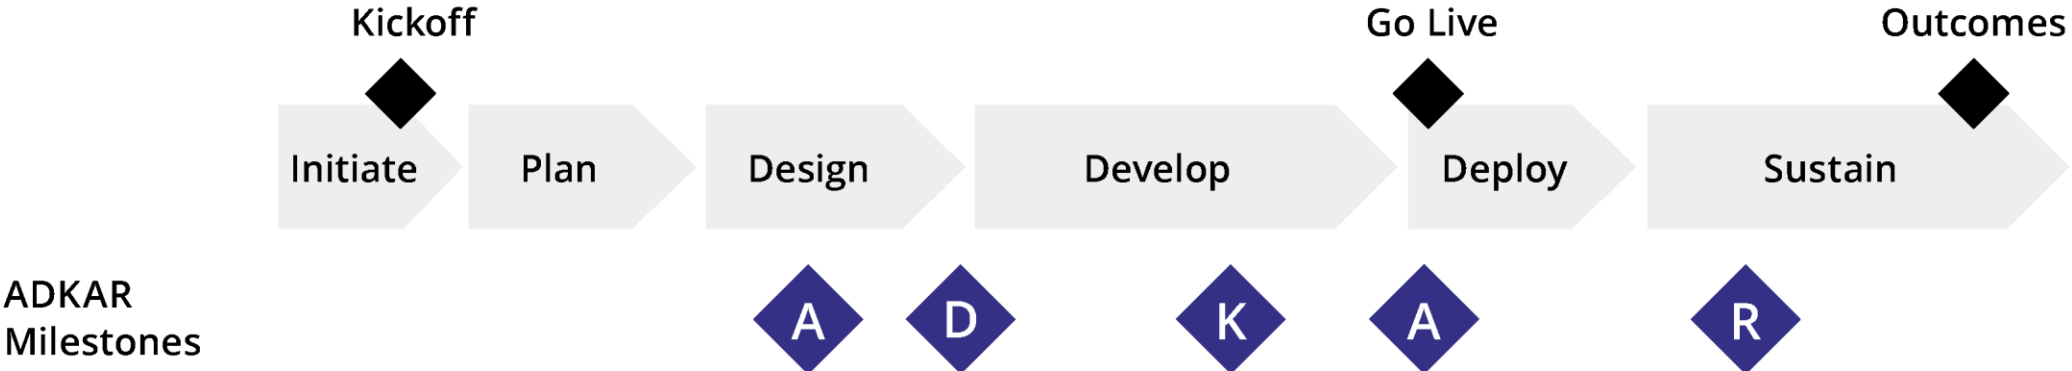

Align Ability with Go Live to Drive Outcomes

ADKAR milestones describe individual progress and need to align with the lifecycle of the initiative.

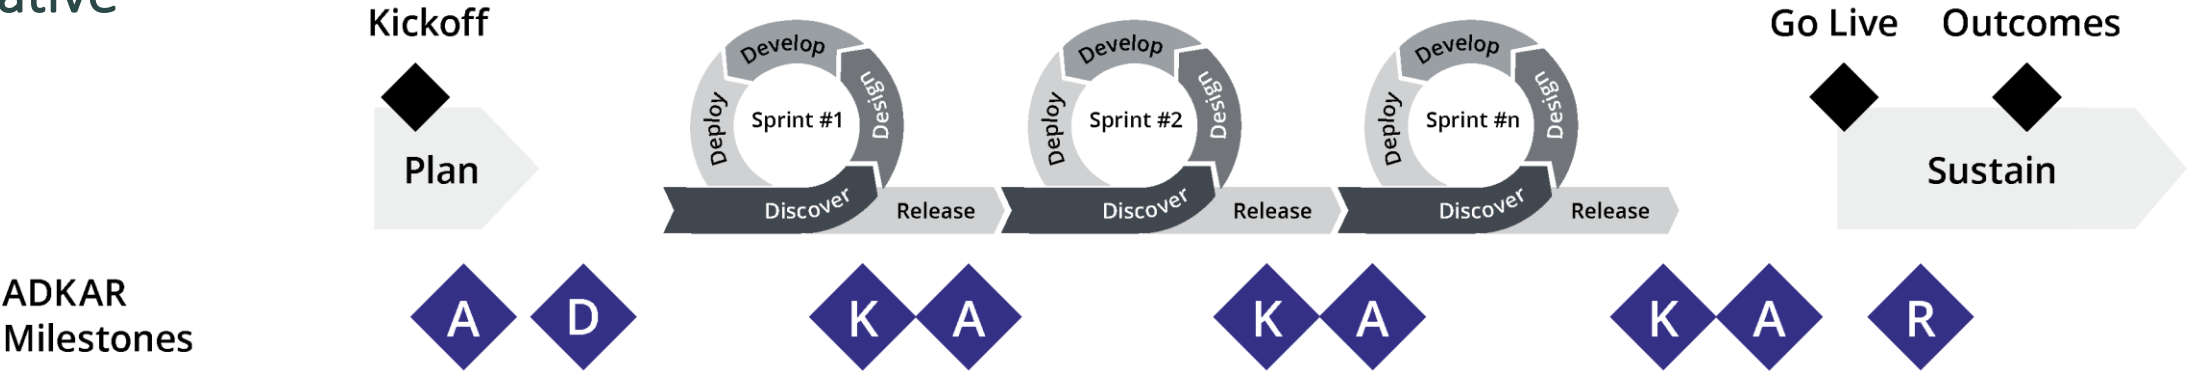

Aligning ADKAR Milestones with a Project or Initiative Lifecycle

Iterative

ADKAR Blueprint

Awareness

Reinforcement

The ADKAR Blueprint is the backbone of change management.
 Each ADKAR element becomes a milestone, with a target date and an anticipated gap.
 Adding Activity, Roles and Timeline for each element turns the model into specific activities to execute.

ADKAR Blueprint

Gauge gap is different than barrier point

The ADKAR barrier point informs where someone is not progressing.

Gauge gap is an evaluation of expected effort to build each of the ADKAR elements for a particular change.

Smaller gap (less effort)

Awareness:

“It’s about time!”

Knowledge:

New toolset very similar to what people use currently

Reinforcement:

Outcomes highly visible

Larger gap (more effort)

Awareness:

“If it’s not broken, don’t fix it.”

Knowledge:

Very different toolset from what people have used

Reinforcement:

Outcomes not visible

ADKAR Tactics: Employees

ADKAR to Activate Key Roles

Fulfilling a Role in Change Management Takes ADKAR

Awareness

Of the need for change management

D

Desire

To participate and support change management

K

Knowledge

On how to fulfill the specific change management role

Ability

To fulfill the change management role

R

Reinforcement

To continue fulfilling the change management role

Sponsor Role in Change: Fulfill the ABCs to Drive Success

It's not just signing checks and charters

Actively and visibly participate throughout the project

Build a coalition of sponsorship with peers and managers

Communicate directly with employees

People Manager Roles During Change

Research indicates five roles: CLARC

Communicator

Liaison

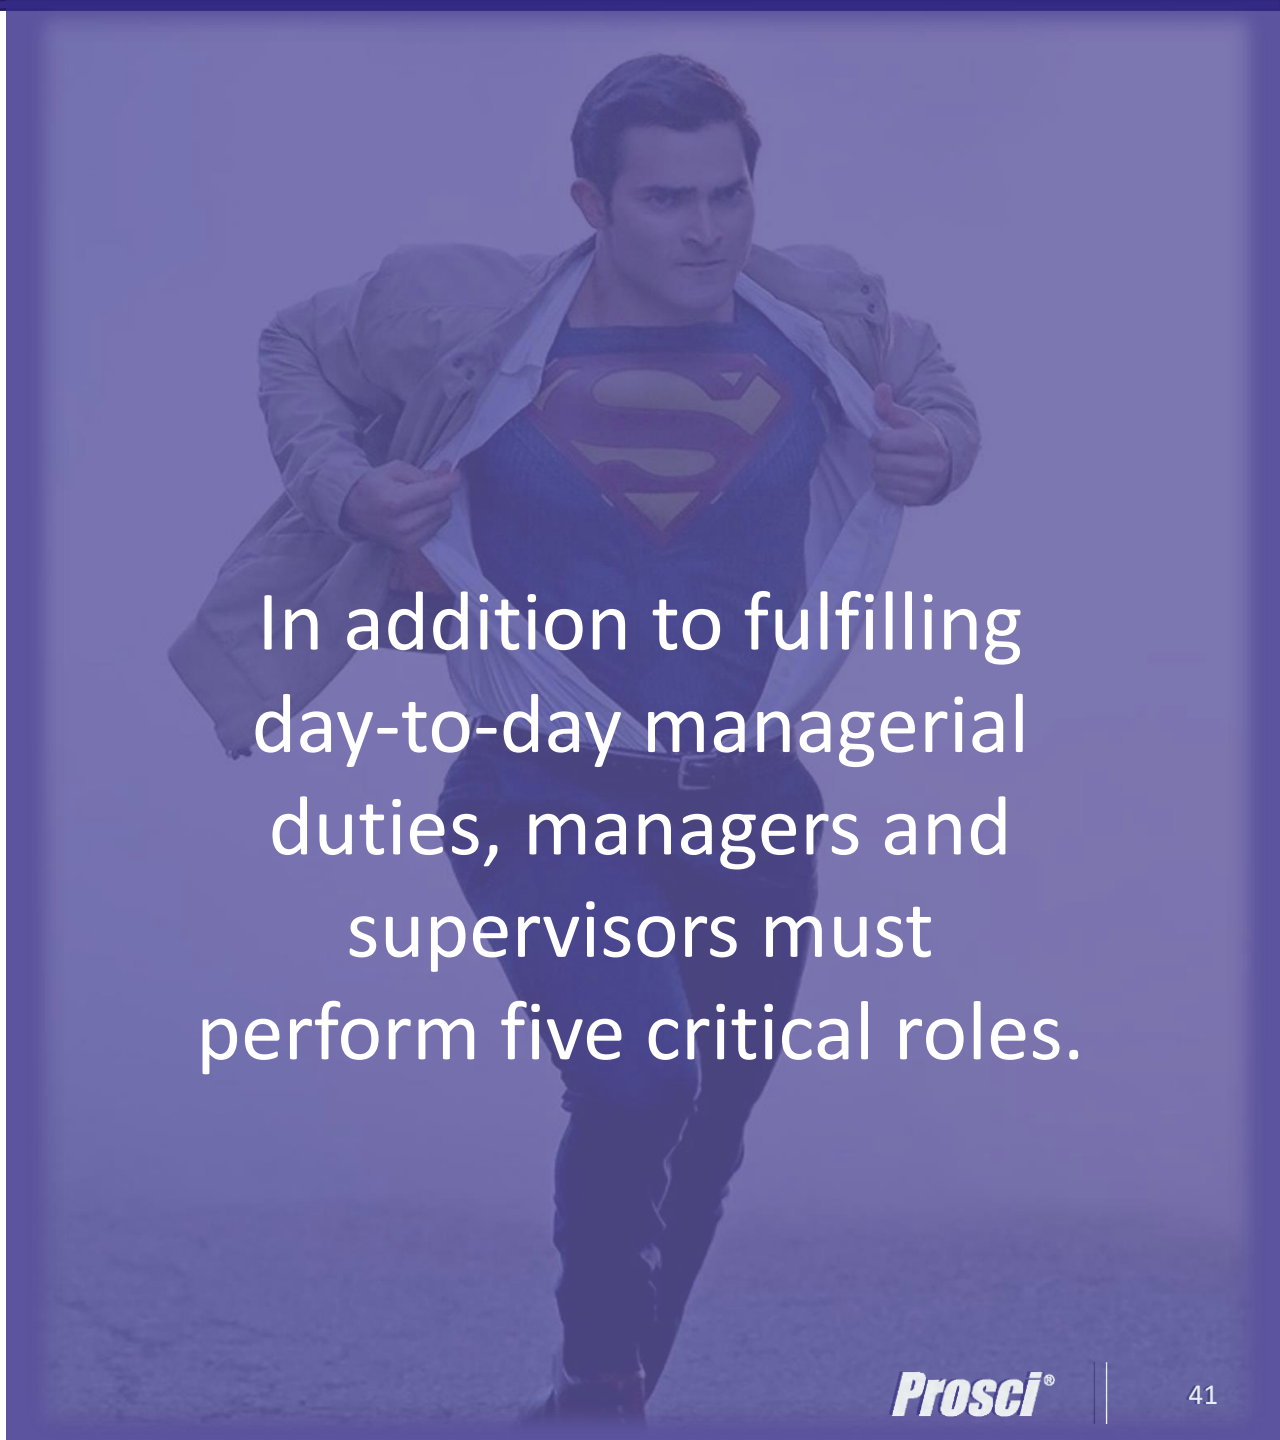

Advocate

Resistance Manager

Coach

In addition to fulfilling day-to-day managerial duties, managers and supervisors must perform five critical roles.

Common ADKAR Barrier to People Manager Role Fulfillment

No desire for the change itself before engaging direct reports

Effectively fulfilling the role of people manager (CLARC) for the change
